Handwritten markings at the top of the page, including the number '1000' and several 'N' characters.

Main body of the document containing multiple columns of text. The text is extremely faint and illegible due to severe horizontal scan artifacts.

This image shows a large, empty table with multiple columns and rows. The table is defined by a grid of vertical and horizontal lines. There are 12 columns in total, with some columns being wider than others. The rows are also present, creating a grid structure. The table is currently blank, with no text or data entered. The header area at the top of the page, containing the number '117', is also visible.

50¢ Sub Rev Stamp

This page contains a large grid of horizontal and vertical lines, typical of a ledger or notebook page. The grid is composed of many horizontal lines and several vertical lines that create columns of varying widths. The grid is mostly empty, with no text or data entered within the cells.

This image shows a page from a ledger or account book, numbered 179 in the top right corner. The page is ruled with 12 vertical columns and a horizontal line near the top, creating a grid for entries. The columns are of varying widths, with the central columns being wider than the outer ones. There are some faint, illegible markings and a small dot in the upper part of the grid, but the page is otherwise empty.
